Sociology

Sociology is subject to the study men in society and culture. This will help to students to develop capacity to understand ourselves and others. Self-awareness and self-development is main aim of the subject. It develops skills of rational thinking. By the time of graduation, sociology majors should be able to:

- Explain the sociological perspective, broadly defined: use sociological theory to explain social problems and issues; make theoretically-informed recommendations to address current social problems, and demonstrate the utility of the sociological perspective for their lives.
- Demonstrate the ability to interpret, locate, evaluate, generate, and use sociologically relevant data to test hypotheses and draw evidence-based conclusions.
- Integrate sociological theory, research, and data in order to assess various explanations of social phenomena and to assess social policy.

Upon completion of a B.A. in Sociology, students will:

- Think critically about the causes and consequences of social inequality.
- Design and evaluate empirical sociological research.
- Explain and apply the major theoretical perspectives in sociology.
- Communicate orally and in writing about sociological concepts.
- Use their sociological education outside of the undergraduate classroom, particularly in their careers or further education.

B.A. Part- I First Semester

Objectives of the Paper:

1. This paper intends to induct the students to sociology as the beginner of the subject.
2. The paper thus aims to expose the students to the basic concepts in sociology.

Mission, Goals, and learning Outcomes:

The Sociology Department seeks to develop in students the sociological knowledge and skills that will enable them to think critically and imaginatively about society and social issues. Through coursework, internships, independent studies and collaborative research with faculty, the Department encourages a commitment to social justice based on an appreciation of social and intellectual diversity and an awareness of social inequality.

The major in sociology is intended to serve as preparation for careers in teaching, delivery and administration of social and health services, urban and environmental studies, law, government service at local, state and federal levels and related occupations. The major also provides training for advanced graduate work in sociology, social work and other social sciences. Sociology is also recommended as a second major or minor for students of all other social sciences; for business; for the humanities, especially literature and theatre arts; for ethnic and area studies; for journalism and other various applied arts and sciences.

Core courses provide students with a solid grounding in the fundamentals of the sociology discipline. Upper division concentrations in Deviance and Social Control; Interaction and Group Relations; Medical Sociology, and Social Change and Global Issues allow students to further focus and develop their understanding of specific fields within sociology.

Foundations of Sociological Thought

Objectives of the Paper:

1. The paper aims at orienting the students to the basic sociological thoughts of the great masters of sociology.
2. The paper also intends to help the students to shape their thoughts and ideas and also addressing many current sociological issues and problems.
3. The objectives of the course are to provide students with some basic conceptual resources for tackling substantive and theoretical material in their 2nd and 3rd years.

Aims:

This course will provide a basic but comprehensive introduction to some of the intellectual traditions within sociology with a focus on the origins of the discipline. The course will provide the student with the necessary conceptual tools to understand the distinctive origin and nature of sociology as an academic discipline and as a wider cultural presence within modernity. In all cases emphasis will be placed upon the specific historical context of particular writers and theories. It will be argued that the emergence of sociology and the social sciences in general represents an intellectual response to the cultural and material problems of capitalist industrial societies in the 19th and early 20th centuries. The course will equip students with the concepts and information necessary to grasp the main themes of the classical sociological tradition. The objectives of the course are to provide students with some basic conceptual resources for tackling substantive and theoretical material in their 2nd and 3rd years.
